The celebrity of this author's "LAWYER," and "CHILD OF FEELING" in the United States, has induced the publishers to engage in this work, and without detracting from the merits of the former, feel themselves justified in stating that his GLENCARN is superior to either. It is submitted without further recommendation, with a wish, that the American reviewers may give further encouragement to this young gentleman's endeavors to entertain instruct and moralize his fellow citizens, in a way seemingly well calculated to attract their attention.

Spain, when crushed, will be treated as a conquered country. The denunciation already hurled against the opulent grandees, and the division of their estates among his officers, are but the first steps in that course of regeneration, which Spain, so foolishly reluctant, is to run, under the mild and wholesome sway of her philanthropic invaders.

During my stay in England, my attention was earnestly drawn to whatever was said or written on the subject of Spain, particularly after the commencement of the present contest. I enjoyed frequent opportunities of conversing with some of the most intelligent officers, and several who visited that country for the purpose of ascertaining the true grounds upon which the public expectation was to rest. The result of all my enquiries fortified me in the conclusion to which the character of the invader naturally led—that he had formed but too just an estimate of the weakness and languor of the Spaniards.

When the British forces marched into Spain, they found, what such considerations as these might have taught them to expect, here and there tumultuary assemblies, but no appearance whatever of regular military movements; and so far were they from discovering a disposition in the people to co-operate in the task of their own deliverance, that they experienced in their retreat greater inconvenience from the hostility of the Spanish peasantry, than from the pursuit of the foe. The letters of Sir John Moore, and the representations of the English travellers, who examined the state of the country, are precisely of the same tenor. An effervescence was almost every where excited,—but was allowed to evaporate in empty boasts and menaces. Treachery and fear marked the conduct of the higher classes; who, by their example, disarmed the passions, while they counteracted the efforts of the multitude. The juntas were almost universally bodies of inactive, illiterate, formalizing men; without the magnanimity to conceive, or the courage to execute, any prompt, comprehensive and hardy plan of operations. Great credit is unquestionably due to the defence of Saragossa, and to the spirit manifested by some few of the privileged orders; and by most of the professional men. But I think it must be apparent, upon an attentive survey of the history of this struggle,—that the exertions of the Spaniards were by no means commensurate with the extent of their physical resources, nor such as would for any time have frustrated the designs of Bonaparte, had not the Austrian war interposed to break the force of his attack. The English ministry committed errors in their mode of co-operation, of which they must now bitterly repent. In attempting to rouse the moral energies of the country, they made their appeal to the prejudices of slavery and fanaticism,—when, in such a cause, "the spirit of freedom" and a deep

"Slaves that once conceive the glowing thought of freedom, in that drops itself passion."
"All that the contest calls for, spirit, strength, the courage of danger and united hearts."
"The earnest prayer of the good they seek."

steady feeling of self-interest in the minds of the people, were the only auxiliaries fitted to supply the absence of skill and discipline. Instead of sending their armies to meet the enemy at the foot of the Pyrenees, they despatched them to a distant theatre of action,—not to the centre of danger, but to the circumference, where nothing decisive could be effected, even with the most complete success. They had before their eyes a long succession of similar events to teach the necessity of vigorous and unhesitating exertion. It required neither the hind of Scipio nor the nymph of Scipio to instruct them in what manner the war was to be conducted by their antagonist.

FRIDAY, February 9.

CONVOY AND ARMING.

Mr. Burwell, from the committee appointed on the subject, reported a bill authorising the president of the U. States to employ the public armed vessels and permitting merchants to arm for the defence of the American commerce.

[The first section of this bill provides that the president of the U. States be authorised and required to employ the public armed vessels of the U. States to convoy vessels owned by citizens of the U. States and laden with the produce of the United States the property of such citizens, provided such produce is not contraband of war, and the said vessels shall not be bound to a blockaded port, or to any port or place belonging to or in the actual possession of any nation having in force orders, edicts, or decrees, against neutral rights in violation of the law of nations.]

The 2d section enumerates articles which shall be deemed contraband of war.

The 3d section provides that no port shall be considered as blockaded, unless actually invested with a sufficient force to render the entrance to it dangerous.

The 4th section provides that the commanders of the public armed vessels conveying according to this law shall permit the public armed vessels of any belligerent nation to visit and search on the high seas any private ship or vessel under their convoy, for the purpose of examining whether it be laden with enemy's property or articles by this law declared contraband of war, or whether it be bound to a port actually blockaded.

The 5th section provides that the commanders shall not permit any privateer or other than a national armed vessel to visit any vessel under their convoy.

The 6th section requires the commanders to resist by force the capture of any vessel under their convoy for any other cause than having enemy's property or articles contraband of war on board, or being bound to a port actually blockaded, and to continue such resistance so long as may be necessary for the protection of the vessels under their convoy.

The 7th section provides that vessels under convoy, agreeably to the provisions of the act, may be armed; that they shall permit search in cases before mentioned; but that they shall resist any search by privateers, letters of marque, or private armed vessels.

The 8th section provides that vessels described in the preceding section shall resist capture, &c. in the same manner as the commanders of the vessels conveying them are by this bill authorised to do.

The 9th section requires of every merchant vessel armed as aforesaid, previous to obtaining a clearance, bond, that its guns and ammunition, &c. shall not be used for any unlawful purposes, but merely for resistance and defence in the cases authorised and specified in this act, and that such arms shall be returned within the United States.

The 10th section provides that vessels thus conveyed shall be subject to the signals of the commander of the armed vessels conveying and to such rules and regulations as the president may, under the provisions of the act, establish for the government of the convoy.

The 11th section limits the duration of the bill to a year, and from thence to the end of the next session of congress thereafter.

The bill was twice read and referred to a committee of the whole house on Monday week.

EXPORTS FOR 1809.

The following report was received from the secretary of the treasury:

Treasury Department,
February 7, 1810.

SIR,

I have the honor to transmit herewith a statement of goods, wares, and merchandize exported from the United States nominally, during one year prior to the first day of October, 1809, but in fact during the six months and a half ending on that day, exportations having been prevented by the embargo till the fifteenth day of March, 1809.

The goods, wares and merchandize of domestic growth or manufacture, included in this statement, are estimated at

$ 31,405,702

And those of foreign growth or manufacture

20,797,531

Amounting together to

$ 52,203,233

The articles of domestic manufacture may be arranged under the following heads, viz.

Produce of the sea	1,710,000
forest	4,583,000
agriculture	23,234,000
manufactures	1,506,000
Uncertain	373,000

31,406,000

It is proper to add that the summary of the destination of those exports, being grounded on the clearances of the vessels, cannot be relied on, under existing circumstances, as shewing with precision their real destination. Thus, all the vessels actually designed for the dominions of Great-Britain which left the United States between the 19th of April and the 10th of June, cleared for other ports, principally, it is believed, for Sweden.

I have the honor to be, &c.

ALBERT GALLATIN.

The hon. Speaker of the House of Representatives.

The report and documents were ordered to be printed.

DRAWBACKS.

Mr. Newton, from the committee of commerce and manufactures reported a bill to restrict the allowance of drawback to certain vessels.

[This bill provides that no drawback of duties shall be allowed on the exportation of any goods, wares or merchandize, imported into the United States after day of next, unless the same shall have been imported in a ship or vessel of the United States—and,

That after the day of next, no drawback shall be allowed or paid on the exportation of any goods, wares, or merchandize, unless the same shall be exported in a ship or vessel of the United States, any law or laws to the contrary notwithstanding.]

The bill was twice read and referred to a committee of the whole.

NAVIGATION OF THE MOBILE.

The following message was received from the President of the U. States by Mr. Edward Cole, his Secretary:

To the House of Representatives of the U. States.

I transmit to the house a report of the Secretary of State, complying with their resolution of the 22d of January.

JAMES MADISON.

February 9, 1810.

REPORT.

The Secretary of State, to whom the President has been pleased to refer the resolution of the house of representatives of the 22d of last month, has the honor to state that it appears from the records in this department that in the years 1801 and 1802, the executive had endeavored to obtain for the citizens of the United States residing on the waters of Tombigbee and Alabama rivers, the free navigation of the Mobile river to its confluence with the ocean—1st. by claiming this navigation as a natural right sanctioned by the general principles of the law of nations applicable to rivers similarly situated; and 2d. by endeavoring to purchase the country held by Spain on the Mobile.

These efforts were made before it was known that Spain had ceded Louisiana to France, and consequently before the purchase of that province by the U. S. Since that purchase, the country held by Spain on the Mobile has been claimed as being included therein.

The Spanish government having objected to this claim in a manner which justified a belief that the question would not be soon decided, our minister at Madrid was instructed again to claim the free navigation of the Mobile under the general principles of the law of nations, and to represent to his Catholic majesty the propriety and necessity of giving orders to his officers not to interrupt the free communication with our territories through the waters of the Mobile.

In addition to what has been done thro' this department, it appears that the governor of the Orleans territory and other officers of the U. S. have endeavored to induce the Spanish authorities on the Mobile to abstain from exacting duties on the passage of our merchandize or produce up or down that river. Notwithstanding, however, every thing which has been done, it is understood that these authorities have continued to exact (with some occasional relaxations) a duty of 12 per cent. on all articles of the growth or manufacture of the United States, which are conveyed thro' said river to and from the city of New Orleans.

All which is respectfully submitted.

R. SMITH.

Department of State,
Feb. 8, 1810.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE.

ACTS OF A PUBLIC NATURE

Passed at the Present Session.

[Abridged from the Originals for the Argus.]

12. An act concerning the service of process in certain cases, and for other purposes.

This act provides, that where there is a just exception to the sheriff and coroner, or sergeant and coroner, or where there is no coroner, any process whatever may be directed to any justice of the peace, or to the mayor, or any alderman, &c. who shall execute and return the same, under the same penalties, as in the case of a sheriff, coroner, or sergeant. So, where the sheriff and coroner, or sergeant and coroner are interested in a suit in which an issue of fact is to be tried the court may direct some fit person to summon a jury. In like manner, where there is no coroner in a county, or the coroner cannot attend, any justice of the peace may hold an inquest, of murder, or accidental death.

The fees of coroners and justices performing their duties, shall be in future; for taking an inquest of a dead body, to be paid out of the estate of the deceased, if sufficient, if not by the county, 5 dollars; for serving any original or motion process issuing from a court, one dollar; for summoning a witness 30 cents; for all other business, the same fees as sheriffs in similar cases.

13. An act to compel persons who own lands in the commonwealth to cause the same to be entered in the books of the commissioners of the revenue and for other purposes.

If any person having title to lands, shall fail to enter them on the commissioners' books, within 18 months from the passing of this act, they shall be forfeited to the commonwealth; saving the rights of infants, &c. The lands so forfeited shall be sold by the high sheriff, the clerk of the superior court of law, and the attorney for the commonwealth, or any two of them, who are constituted commissioners, and the proceeds paid into the treasury. Every person making discovery and proof to the county court of forfeited lands, shall receive 10 per cent. on the sales—which shall be directed by the court, by order in nature of a decree, but in a summary way. The governor is to cause a copy of this law to be inserted in the National Intelligencer for 6 months.

The former owners of forfeited lands, which are made irredeemable by the first section of the act of the 6th of February, 1809 shall be permitted to redeem the same at any time before the 1st of May 1811, by the payment of the amount required by the act aforesaid, and 10 per cent. on the amount thereof.

[The other provisions of this act chiefly relate to the collection and payment of the monies arising from the sales of forfeited land—and to making conveyances thereon.]

14. An act imposing taxes for the support of government.

The taxes are the same as last year.

15. An act appropriating the public revenue.

16. An act to amend the several acts concerning the county and other inferior courts of this commonwealth.

This act authorizes the county and corporation courts, to award writs of habeas corpus, in the same manner as the judges of the superior courts of Chancery. It also gives similar powers to two justices of peace, in vacation. The practice as prescribed by said law is assimilated as nearly as possible, to that pursued by the superior courts of chancery; but the details are too lengthy for insertion.

BY THE LAST MAILS.

NEW-YORK, February 10.

LATEST FROM LONDON,
VIA LISBON.

By the arrival of the ship Amelia, in 45 days from Lisbon, the editor of the N. Y. Evening Post, has received Portuguese Gazettes to the 23d of December, containing London dates to the 30th of November, four days later than before received. The Lisbon Gazette of the 23d Dec. contains a spirited decree of the government, in the name of the prince regent, for supplying the deficiencies in the regular troops and militia, and for a general conscription to be called into actual service, as the exigencies of the state may require. Its great length precludes a publication of it in our paper. By the 6th article all persons in the kingdom, between the ages of 18 and 35 years of a certain height, are subject to the conscription, with some necessary exceptions for the benefit & advantage of agriculture, navigation and the arts and sciences. A great number of provisions are enacted to secure the execution of the decree, and very severe penalties denounced against all who may attempt to evade it.

Translated for the N. Y. Evening Post.
Lisbon, Dec. 22.
Continuation of extracts from London papers to 20th November.

His serene highness the duke of Brunswick & Olden has at present the commission of Lieut. General in the service of his Britannic majesty. The Court Gazette of Saturday mentions the nomination of the prince to the command of a corps named after himself, which it is said, is to be composed of 12 regiments of infantry, and 6 of cavalry.

The queen of Prussia was safely delivered of a son on the 14th of October, at Konigsberg.

The troops, which sailed from Sicily on the 23d September, under the command of general Oswald, took possession of the Island of Zante, Cephalonia and St. Mark, which formed a part of the Ionian Republic; they made no resistance whatever.

According to the last news from Algiers, the Dey demanded an annual tribute from France, and the consul refusing it was imprisoned. We learn by the French papers, that the last consul Dubois Thainville has returned to Paris.

That excellent regiment, the 12th of light dragoons, has orders to embark immediately for foreign service; the 9th regiment of dragoons received the same order.

We learn that the government has received dispatches from Mr. Adair, dated in the beginning of last month, which do not agree with the accounts in the French papers, that the British influence in Constantinople has diminished. The events which took place on the Danube, and the successes of the Russians have occasioned considerable consternation and embarrassment in the Divan, but have not caused any material change in their communication with our minister, whose last dispatches continued to request, agreeably to the desire of the Porte, the presence of a British squadron in the Turkish seas. The Russians have advanced along the coast as far as Monkala; their flotilla extended from the Bay of Raba to Parma, and has excessively embarrassed the sale of provisions, &c. to the merchants of Constantinople.

Latest from Lisbon.

By the brig Amelia from Lisbon, which port she left on the 24th of Dec. we learn, that the British army had retired from Alentejo to Quimbar. The French were advancing. A British packet had arrived at Lisbon, which brought London papers of the 14th of Dec. but we are informed they did not contain any news of importance.

COMMUNICATION.

"It is now known that the Senate will reject Mr. Macon's Bill."

In short we are all at a loss what to do till we can hear from Europe; but a majority of both parties are good and true men, and would act if they had any efficient Leaders, they will at all events be ready to do their duty to the best of their abilities. Gallatin, it is said, has too many private concerns to hit on any plan for the public good; and overwhelmed as he was last year with the special permission trust; for licence and pardon for all the political sins under the embargo; in sending home Malay Mandarins to China, and all these with no profit to himself; in ordering the rules for the right managing the money in the land offices before it is called for, to purchase public debt; in fixing on proper persons to be intrusted with these LORD MELVIL privileges in connection with those for the purchase of Bills of Exchange, and in sending specie to Europe, because in this country we are growing too saucy by having too much money at command; in finding our mill sats and good bottom lands, and how to avoid the possible pre-emption rights to these prime public lands, least he should not go out of office as poor as his predecessors, Hamilton and Wolcott. He not only takes this vastly patriotic care, but he has likewise taken special care not to think of a single good thing in relation to finance, or to make any change in that miserable federal system, that he used to find so much fault with; of course he has nothing to do with the ordinary duties of the treasury, but to let the faithful clerks of the old school make out a report now and then, which he signs: the rest of his time he employs in his own way, of which you will hear more soon; and how he remembers to forget to entertain strangers, &c. as our other heads of departments do, in order to prove that he is too poor to do this like a gentleman.

Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, February 13.

[Taken for the Alexandria Gazette.]

Mr. Stanley obtained leave of absence for Mr. Goldborough for a fortnight. Several private petitions were presented and referred.

On motion of Mr. Fish, the bill providing for taking the third census of the U. States, was taken up in committee of the whole, Mr. MILLER in the chair.

Several amendments were made to the bill—at half past 2 the bill was reported to the house.

[In making our report of the proceedings on the bill for incorporating the Episcopal Society in Alexandria, we inadvertently omitted the following.

In order to secure any claim which the county or parish of Fairfax might have to any property claimed by the said society of Alexandria, Mr. Lewis offered the following amendment, which was added to the fifth section of the bill.

Provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to affect the claim or claims of any person or persons, county or parish, in and to any property now in the possession of the said church or claimed by it.]

DIED, yesterday afternoon, Mr. James Buge, merchant, of this town, aged 48 years. His friends and acquaintance are requested to attend his funeral, to-morrow afternoon, at three o'clock, from his late dwelling on King-street.

THE Brethren of Brook Lodge No. 47, will meet at their Lodge Room to-morrow afternoon at half past 3 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the funeral of their deceased brother JAMES BACON. Visiting Brethren in town are requested to attend.

THE subscriber, after a lapse of time necessarily consumed in the preparation of his house, respectfully announces to the citizens of Alexandria, as well as the community at large, that he has taken for a term of years that noted and eligible establishment known by the name of the CITY HOTEL, and once occupied by Mr. Gadaby, whose distinguished abilities as a Publican gave it an eclat which the subscriber hopes to preserve by his unremitting exertions in affording to all those who may confer on him the favor of their patronage, genteel and comfortable accommodations. The subscriber deems it unnecessary to indicate the multiplicity of conveniences attached to the City Hotel, and will only submit a description to that portion of travellers who have so generally attested its numerous advantages.

TO PARENTS. The mixed cases of worms performed by HAMILTON'S CELEBRATED WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

(Selected from a very numerous list.)
All E presented as indubitable proof of the excellence and safety of this valuable specific,
for destroying worms in the human stomach
and intestines.

From Mr. Benjamin Williams, No. 30, Baltimore Street, two doors above South Gay-street.

I have a son six years of age, who for four years past, has been generally in a very unhealthy state, particularly in summer; frequently afflicted with alarming convulsion
fits, the whole of his little frame wasted fast,
his breath foetid, and almost constant itching
at the nose was excited, with other alarming symptoms. During the course of the above period, the advice and attendance of three of the most eminent physicians in Baltimore were successively procured. Each of these gentlemen, in his turn, declared worms to be the cause of the child's disorder, and exhausted his skill in attempting to expel them. Pink root, steel filings with a variety of other medicines, were administered without the least success. It was once pronounced impossible for the child to live many hours.

I had heard of your Worm Destroying Lo-zenges, but with many others did not think highly of so cheap a medicine, until a gentleman of my acquaintance (Mr. Wm. S. Moore, auctioneer) in whose family they had been used with good effect, advised me to make trial of them; I accordingly gave my son a dose agreeable to directions, which soon expelled eight large worms, some of them about eight inches in length; a second dose brought away four more of similar size; a third dose being administered, no worms appeared. The child recovered and now enjoys a good state of health.

BENJAMIN WILLIAMS.

AFFIDAVIT.

Michael Duffy, residing at No. 47, Walker
street, Fell's Point, in the city of Baltimore voluntarily maketh oath that the following statement is just and true:

In the beginning of May last, my three children, a boy of seven, and two girls the one five, and the other three years of age were taken very ill, nearly at the same time, of a common fever, as I then supposed; but was soon convinced the disorder was caused by worms. They were frequently troubled with convulsion fits, and violent startings in their sleep, and with almost continual vomiting and purging, particularly the youngest. I made immediate application to a physician of the first reputation, and his medicines were administered with confidence of success, which only increased our disappointment. The children grew daily worse, and I was absolutely without hopes of their recovery. The youngest soon appeared almost devoid of animation, and scarcely an inhabitant of this world. In this distressing moment I was told that Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges
had performed many cures in cases equally desperate. I immediately purchased a box, and gave each of them a dose, which in a few hours produced the most desirable effects. The eldest voided a great number of very large worms, and the second thousands of small ones, many of them not a quarter of an inch—in the youngest they seemed to be consumed, and had the appearance of skin and limy matter. I repeated the dose agreeable to the paper of directions, and they all speedily recovered a good state of health, which they still enjoy, though 5 months have nearly elapsed, since they were on the borders of the grave, and the death of the whole seemed to be inevitable.

J. SMITH.

Sworn before me, this 26th day of September, 1799.

Philadelphia, August 5 1806.
TO H. LEE.

Some time last spring I was afflicted with loss of appetite, giddiness in the head, fever,
and great debility, so that I could scarcely walk. In this distressing situation I took many things, but without benefit. An acquaintance in the country sent me to procure a box of Hamilton's Lozenges. Curiously prompted me to read the directions, where I found my complaint exactly described by the doctor. I immediately sent for another box of the Lozenges, and took one dose, which brought away a large quantity of worms, and I felt greatly relieved. Encouraged by this, I took another dose, which was attended with the happiest effects, as it delivered me entirely, and am now in a better
state of health than for a considerable time
was, and about the same season—convulsions, apoplexy fits, and sometimes a privation of speech—irregular appetite, sometimes eating food and sometimes voracious—purging, with slimy and foetid stools—vomiting—large and hard stools—pains and sickness at the stomach—pains in the head and thighs, with loss of appetite—slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—a dry cough—excessive thirst—sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and swelled.

Persons afflicted with any of the above
symptoms, should have immediate recourse
to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges,
which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

Prevention better than Cure.

In cases of head ache, foul stomach, and for removing superfluous bile, perhaps no remedy has been discovered superior to LEE'S HAHN'S ANTIBILIOUS PILLS,
which for 10 years past have been attended with the greatest success. The testimony of many respectable persons in our southern sea ports has been adduced who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy during the prevalence of malignant fevers, has preserved their health after experiencing alarming symptoms of fever.

Certificate of Wm. Devenny.

During the last nine years I have been in the habit of using Hahn's Antibilious Pills, prepared by the late Mr. Lee, whenever colds, head ache, or costiveness have rendered medicine necessary; in these cases a single dose has uniformly removed any head ache, and has generally been found sufficient to remove every symptom of a cold, if taken on its first appearance. Induced by the benefit I have received, I have for years past recommended them to many of my friends, and I have the pleasure to inform you, they have invariably succeeded in removing the above complaints.

Yours, Wm. DEVENNY,

certain cure by once using; Hamilton's Lo-

505 Acres of Land for Sale.

I WISH TO SELL the above quantity of LAND, situated near the road leading from Georgetown to Alexandria, and about an equal distance from each town.

This property is fully one half covered with wood, which will render it an advisable purchase, on the terms that I will sell.

George H. Terratt, Esq. will show the land to any gentleman who shall so see it,
and will give the necessary information.

George H. Chapman.
